FINAL CONFLICT

ISSN 1463-614x

FC is produced every three months to offer people a change from the bland nonsense put out by the New World Order.

We publish serious and humorous material - so if you can't think for yourself, or take a joke: go and read the quasi-Tory 'Reaction Monthly'.

FC is a non profit making independent magazine, though editorially it supports the Third Position. Material printed doesn't necessarily reflect the view of FC or the TP. We're just a magazine trying to inform Nationalist bods.

FINAL CONFLICT

SO MUCH has happened since the last issue of FC it's difficult to know where to begin!

The war against Serbia ran its course, fought illegally by NATO — supposedly a defensive organisation — against a Sovereign Nation. For a superb write-up on the West's lies and the ethnic cleansing of Serbs by Albanians before the war, see The Voice of St. George #16.

The London bombs went off — and didn't the media and the anti-racist Mafia just love that? Now we have the bizarre situation where Searchlight's publisher Gerry Gable, who has links to Red Action/IRA London bombers and Anti Fascist Action violent Marxists is officially "advising" Scotland Yard's 'Anti-Racist Task Force'.

We've dealt with the London bombs on page 13. A more in depth feature, by the Third Position, will follow in The Voice of St. George. One puzzling aspect of the case was the police rush to say Copeland — the alleged bomber — had no links to any 'nationalist' groups, despite his possible membership of the NSM and his unconvincing link to the BNP. We think this is because his mother, who works at a Jewish hospital, may well be Jewish.

If she is, according to Jewish law, that would make Copeland Jewish — a clear reason for the early police dismissal of "racist" motives and a fact which will leave the anti-racist/Zionist lobby with egg on its face...

The weirder groups out there — like the NSM or the Church of the Creator — often attract this sort of loser. Indeed, many people think that such groups are set up or run by the American or British State, or Jewish groups like the ADL, as they act as 'honey traps' for young White men and keep Nationalism to the fringe.

So what is the answer? To build a well organised, radical English Nationalist movement. That is the only way to hit back at the State, its agent provocateurs and the anti-racist Mafia which wants to shut down English Nationalism for good.

WITH THIS issue of FC subscribers received a free tape, featuring two new songs by Carl Klang, an intro to Counter Power, snippets from some of Legion Tapes' titles, sample songs from CDs sold by FC and a speech from a 1987 Race meeting all about the meaning of Nationalism. FROM THE NEWS DESK

A SOCIETY IN ITS DEATH THROWS!

Whichever way you look at it, England is falling apart. The only way out is to build a genuine, radical, English Nationalist movement.

⊗ In 'black spots' (excuse the pun!) like Bradford and Oldham White residents are even more at risk!

⊗ In the wake of the Macpherson Report and the furore around the Stephen Lawrence case the police are afraid to stop Blacks and Asians. These means crime (like mugging) is rising, whilst law-abiding Whites are the victims of 'stop and search' tactics.

⊗ White victims of racial attacks are often ignored by groups set up to help the victims of racial attacks (usually run by immigrants or Reds).

⊗ White victims of non-White criminals do not report their crimes as racial for fear of being labelled 'racist'.

The list goes on and on!

If you are White and working class then you simply do not count! The police can harass you, immigrants can attack you, racial attack support groups will ignore you... To put it bluntly: YOU DO NOT MATTER TO THESE PEOPLE!

But you matter to us!

We are proud of our land and of her people! We have nothing to be sorry for or guilty about!

If you feel the same way then get in touch. Together we can do something about it! Let's let them know: We are proud to be White!

FIRST CLASS TREATMENT

Whilst pensioners who have paid taxes all their lives are left to fend for themselves in tower blocks and council estates, Muslim refugees from Kosovo are given newly furnished accommodation, big money handouts and all the facilities they will ever need!

Whilst we sympathise with some of these people, after all NATO is primarily responsible for bombing the villages and towns in which they used to live, is this preferential treatment right?

How many of them will return to a bomb-scarred land to fend for themselves when they can have the 'life of Reilly' in England, Scotland or Wales?

The whole scenario stinks to high Heaven!

WE HAVE A SIMPLE CHOICE:

NATIONAL FREEDOM OR NATIONAL EXTINCTION!

THE EUROPEAN UNION is the first step to World Government. The anti-EU fight isn't about saving Westminster nor the Bank of England, both the playthings of Freemasonry.

The anti-EU fight is about saving England, and the other British Nations' sovereignty.

A clique of bureaucrats and EU commissars want to rule the whole of Europe with an iron grip. They will impose politically correct laws on us all. They will erode our traditions and the differences that make the various European countries dear to the hearts of all their sons and daughters.

We don't want a Central European Bank eating up our taxes. We don't want more powerful bureaucrats on the gravy train at our expense.

That is why only 23% of the UK population bothered to vote in the recent Euro elections — and why turn-out was down right across the EU.

People are sick and tired of the EU and are saying: give us our countries back!

There has never been a better time to campaign against the European Union. And now you can do YOUR bit!

The Third Position has launched a huge anti-EU campaign with a special 3 colour sticker and poster (see right).

Order your copies now:

Stickers: 250 - £3. 1000 - £10.

Posters: 70p for 10.

There is also a special issue of The Voice of St. George with this design on the front page. 10 copies: £3.50. 40 copies: £14. 100 copies: £25. All prices include postage in the UK. Make cheques etc. payable to 'TPFF' and send them to: The Secretary, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX, England. (More info from the FC line: 0831 744 880).

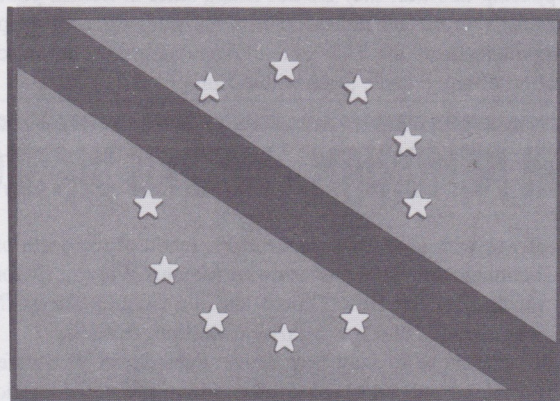

Donations are also wanted for this campaign and can be sent to the above address too!

The people are sick to the back teeth of Europe, so let's get out there and spread the word! Together we can build the Nationalist cause and build a popular movement against the EU.

NATIONAL FREEDOM or NATIONAL EXTINCTION. Which will it be?

ALL AROUND THE WORLD . . .

CROAT ANTI-COMMUNIST CARDINAL REMEMBERED

On April 18th, 1999, the U.S. Cardinal Francis, from the city of Chicago, along with city representatives and other dignitaries, consecrated a new street in Chicago, which now bears the name "The Street of Cardinal Aloysius Stepinac".

Cardinal Aloysius Stepinac was a Croatian martyr, archbishop, who was viciously persecuted by the Yugoslav Communist authorities after WWII. In a similar fashion to Soviet Russia and Red Spain (1936- 39), over 300 Croat priests, nuns, and clergymen were killed by Yugoslav Communists during the war and following the Communist seizure of power in 1945 - in what was once known as Tito's Yugoslavia. This is the same Yugoslavia that 'the West' is now upholding as a perfect 'multi-ethnic State'...

The old name of the street was 'Princeton Avenue.' The consecration and the renaming of the street, took place in front of St. Jerome Church, and was attended by over a thousand people, mostly Americans of Croatian, Italian, Polish, and Irish descent. The celebration was also attended by the Croatian government representative, Dr. Tomislav Sunic, who works as minister counsellor at the Croat Embassy in Belgium.

Of course, when Cardinal Stepinac was beatified in October 1998 (which means he is on the road to Sainthood!), the traditional enemies were up in arms. Jewish activists cried foul because of the Cardinal's refusal to condemn Croatia's wartime role, as well as his fine Croatian, anti-Yugoslav and anti-Communist credentials, and his supposed links to "anti-Semitism", "fascism" and the other buzz words for healthy patriotism.

AUSTRALIA AGAINST NATO

AUSTRALIA: National Action (see interview, FC #20) members have attended anti-NATO protests organised mainly by people of Serbian origin. At Sydney, a thousand leaflets were distributed on two occasions, and on one occasion in Adelaide.

The reception from the demonstrators was very good. Much less friendly was the reception given to the few representatives of local Marxist groups, who also tried to take part. Needless to say, the Nationalists encouraged them to go, which they did.

National Action has initiated a large poster campaign, which is the only public example of a political movement, which is not actually part of the settler population here of Serb origin, doing anything concrete to oppose NATO's insane war of revenge and tyranny.

Australian Nationalists have clearly stated their position that, by opposing this war, they are not taking sides in Balkan politics, but are against this blatant attack on national integrity and independence in the interests of the U.S. and internationalism. They also reject the notion of any Islamic State within Europe.

VAN HALEN ARE PRO-LIFE!

The lead singer of the rock band Van Halen has written an open letter to other rock musicians, challenging them to end their support of pro-abortion groups, according to the pro-life group Rock for Life.

Gary Cherone of Van Halen addressed his open letter to Eddie Vedder, the lead singer of Pearl Jam, writing about women's rights and the beginning of life.

Rock for Life said musicians like Cherone are a voice for unborn children. "Many musicians have used their talent, money, and fame to raise money for the abortion industry," said Bryan Kemper, national director of Rock For Life. "Thousands of babies have died, thanks to efforts of bands like Pearl Jam and R.E.M. It's about time someone like Gary stood up for the rights of these babies."

IN MEMORIAM - MAGNUS WAGEGG

It was with great sadness we at FC learnt of the death of the Birmingham Nationalist stalwart Magnus Wagegg. A former member of the Hitler Youth and the German Army, 'Max' was captured and was a PoW in wartime England.

He chose to stay here rather than return to a defeated homeland and was well known amongst English Nationalists, particularly amongst the skinheads. He was often seen at Nationalist concerts, mixing easily with the young Nationalists.

Max often helped out by translating materials from his native German and was overjoyed whenever he could manage to travel to his homeland for a holiday.

It was fitting, if sad, that Max should die in his home in Small Heath, an area of Birmingham which has been flooded with Asians over the last few decades.

It was also fitting that the Nationalist music scene should hold a memorial concert to him (see review pages) to raise money to send Max's body back to his beloved Fatherland.

We have all lost a dear friend. An old warrior has passed away. Let us resolve to keep the banner he carried throughout his life raised high.

Magnus Wagegg! Present!

"OUR GRANDFATHERS WEREN'T CRIMINALS..."

THE GERMAN Nationalist NPD (see recent FCs) has held numerous rallies against exhibitions by liberals and Marxists which have tried to present German Soldiers in WW2 as some sort of "war criminals". The demos went by the name of this article - Our Grandfathers Weren't Criminals!

Anyone who has looked at WW2 will know that as a rule the German Army behaved in an exemplary manner, hanging soldiers who broke the law. Their treatment of British PoWs was always above board and, when faced with the horrors of the Eastern Front and the Soviet Beast, their good behaviour is nothing less than marvellous.

In this essay, Paul (see his article on concentration camps, last issue), looks at one of these exhibitions which seeks to attack Germans' grandfathers for political gain.

Yesterday my wife and I visited the 'Anti-Wehrmachts Ausstellung' in Hamburg.

The perpetrators of this exhibition add insult to injury at the entrance by charging DM 8.- per person entry fee. A guided tour cost extra.

Being a normal working-day Friday morning I was surprised to find the exhibition rooms very full with people of all ages (and colours). I noticed the same strange suppressed quietness that I have become used to when visiting Museums in concentration camps... as though it would be a sin to talk normally.

Half blocking the entrance to the exhibition they had set up a large trestle table full of 'Anti-German-Military-Hate' books, a quick glance showed me that all the books could have been written by Ilja Ehrenburg himself. The catalogue to the exhibition cost a mere DM 40.- but I bought it anyway because I wanted to take my time looking at all the photographs.

Off to the other side of the entrance old Black and White films were being shown on about 6 video screens. No sound could be heard because each screen had a number of headphones attached to it, all were in use. The films being shown were the ones we see every week on TV... lots of dead bodies lying in pits, German soldiers standing around looking into the pits and naturally being blamed for the murders. It didn't matter if they had just discovered the graves or whatever... they were obviously guilty... because they were on the film. Right?

I had my 35mm camera as well as a small video with me and as there were no signs prohibiting photography I immediately shot a few general scenes. Within 3 or 4 minutes an official accompanied by a private security guard came up to me and asked me politely: "Come with me please sir!" I followed them to the front door where it appears some person had seen me taking pictures. He thought he was on my film and so he had complained.

An argument ensued where the official demanded I hand over my film. I refused, pointed out that it was a public exhibition, no signs were displayed prohibiting photography and so they would be best advised to leave me alone. They did!

But I had noticed how sensitive and easily agitated everybody was.

Everyone was virtually tiptoeing around this exhibition.

I have been a professional photographer for over thirty years and when I started out most of what we shot was on Black & White film, I also had my own darkrooms and so I'm smarter than your average bear when it comes to picking up manipulated images.

This exhibition has a lot of manipulated images, many very obvious, some only recognisable by a professional like myself. One of the most obvious manipulated images was a double exposure of two men in a water tank. One of the men looked like a ghost because the background could be clearly seen through his body. I suspect some other photos have been stills taken for propaganda movies, (probably by the Soviets) because those scenes had been lit by a professional. On other photos the German soldiers were all wearing the older WW1 helmets that were no longer used in Operation Barbarossa. I saw photos where the shadows were falling in the direction the light was coming from. Other photos show German soldiers that were allegedly 'escorting Jews to their execution'. These soldiers threw no shadows at all but seem to be 'floating' above the ground, obviously carefully cut out and pasted into the scene. On other photos the heads of people in the foreground were smaller than heads of people in the background.

Most of the photos however were of innocent soldiers not doing anything sinister at all, but the text accompanying the photos tells the viewer what the soldiers are supposedly doing... Any German soldier shown carrying a weapon was either on his way to execute someone or had just executed someone (usually Jews). Any bearded person shown on a photo was a Jew on his way to be executed.

All Jews were first 'shamed' before they were shot... usually by giving them a shave or a bath or making them sweep the street. (This must be an old German punishment, my mother would demand the same from me when I was younger!)

German troops loading or unloading food were 'Robbing food from the mouths of the people who's country they had invaded'. According to the exhibition almost every civilian the German troops came across was to be shot as a partisan, their homes razed to the ground, their farm animals taken as 'Beute' (spoils of war).

If the Wehrmacht soldiers didn't have the nerve to mass murder the children, the SS or an Einsatzkommando was called upon to do it.

By the time one gets to the end of the exhibition if you see a photo of a group of German soldiers just standing around having a good laugh, you just know they've just murdered a whole city of people (or are about to).

I didn't stay in the exhibition for very long, I felt disgusted, annoyed and aggravated that the normal people in Hamburg after having been shamed, burnt and murdered themselves would put up with this rubbish... but I guess I'm no more of a hero. I didn't have the courage to rush around the room tearing down the exhibition... apart from a jail term for me, would it change anything?

I really feel sorry for the Serbians, I believe I know what's coming up for them... the German nation has been through it twice!

A Vichy France stamp commemorating 'Allied' war crimes against the French population. Not something American, English or German schoolchildren are likely to see in their curriculum.

Whilst the German Army and its allies are often portrayed as "war criminals", British and American war criminals have walked free... and the Red Army, which raped and murdered its way across Eastern Europe, was never brought to account!

we fear no man

A BRIEF LOOK AT THE CELTS

IN THE CHRONICLES of written history, we find the Celtic warrior first mentioned around 500 BC. At this time we find them evidently occupying a position of great strength and influence in Europe.

Aristotle commented "They set great store by warlike powers." Hellenicus describes the Celts as practising justice and righteousness and being on the friendliest terms with the Greeks. Plato, however, classes the Celts as the Race who are drunken and combative, much brevity is attributed to them.

The true Celtic warriors were a tall, fair Race, red of hair, warlike and masterful. They were a nomad tribe whose place of origin (as far as can be traced) was about the source of the Danube. They spread their dominion by conquest over Mid-Europe, Gaul, Spain and the British Isles.

They did not exterminate the original inhabitants, but rather imposed on them their language, art and traditions. Among these nations the Celts formed an aristocratic and ruling caste. In this capacity they stood in the forefront of armed opposition to foreign invasion. They bore the brunt of war, of confiscation and banishment. They never lacked valour.

The golden age for the Celts in Continental Europe was marked by the presence of great power and of mighty movement. During this time they waged three great and successful wars which had great influence on Southern European history. The first conquest was that of Spain from the Carthaginians (500 BC). A century later they took Northern Italy from the Etruscans. They settled in large numbers in the territory known as Cisalpine Gaul.

The Celts left a great memorial in the chief Latin poet Vergil. The name of the village where Vergil was born, Andes, is Celtic. His love of nature, his mysticism and his strong feeling for a certain decorative quality in language and rhythm are markedly Celtic qualities.

The Celtic warrior played a great part in preserving Greek civilisation from being overwhelmed by the Persians of the Middle East, thus keeping alive the priceless gifts of freedom and culture in Europe.

Appearing as an important factor, we again find the Celts under Alexander the Great in his wars against the East.

When about to undertake his conquest of Asia, Alexander made a pact with the Celts. This is what is recorded by Ptolemy Soter of the event:

Celtic knotwork from a Scottish relief.

"As the Celtic envoys, who are men of haughty bearing and great stature, were drinking with the king, he asked them, what was the thing they, the Celts, most feared. The envoys replied: 'We fear no man: there is but one thing we fear, that is that the sky should fall on us.' Alexander bade them farewell, turning to his nobles he whispered, 'What a vainglorious people are these Celts!' Yet the answer, for all its Celtic bravado and flourish, was not without both dignity and courtesy."

The geographer and traveller, Strabo, has much to tell us about the Celts.

"Their country is thickly inhabited and well tilled - there is no waste of human resources. The women are prolific and notably good mothers. The men are warlike, passionate, disputatious, easily provoked, but generous and unsuspecting. They show themselves in culture, eager in letters and science. Public education is established in their towns. They fight better on horseback than on foot and thus form the flower of the Roman cavalry. They dwell in great houses made of wickerwork - plastered with clay. Towns of much importance are found with strength in their walls, built of stone and timber. There is a very sharp division between the nobles, priestly Druids, educated class and the common people, the latter kept in strict subjection. The social division corresponds to the Race distinction between the Celts and the aboriginal populations they subdued."

The Celts were known for drinking the blood of their fallen warriors. They believed they would be endowed with the spirit of the dead, giving them great strength.

The Celtic warrior loved display. Everything that gave brilliance and the sense of drama to life, appealed to him.

The Celt's weapons were richly ornamented. His horse-trappings were wrought in bronze and enamel, of exquisite design. His raiment was embroidered with gold.

The Celtic love of splendour and of art were mixed with barbarism. The warriors rode home from victory with the heads of the fallen foemen dangling from their horses' necks.

A characteristic scene from the battle of Clastidium is recorded by Polybius:

"The Celtic Army stripped naked for the fight. The sight of these warriors, with their great stature and their fair skins, on which glittered the collars and bracelets of gold so loved as an adornment by all the Celts, filled the Roman Legionaries with awe."

In everything the Celt attempts, they are driven headlong by their passions and never submit to the laws of reason.

The Ovaltinees

The Godfathers of English Racial Rock interviewed!

The Ovaltinees! Little comment is needed to devotees of RAC music. Prior to their 1997 CD 'Faith, Folk and Family' this bunch of early 80s Racial 'Oisters' were something of a legend in skinhead circles. Grandads who had hung up their boots and braces would talk of them fondly with a tear in the eye. The flame was rekindled with a re-release of their 'British Justice' EP on the French label, Rebelles Européens, only for the Faith, Folk and Family CD to introduce a professional sound to a whole new generation.

The story of The Ovaltinees is a series of 'what ifs'. What if the music press hadn't blacklisted them... What if they'd kept going past 1984 and into the new White Noise/Blood and Honour scene... What if their latest reincarnation had succeeded...

But let's let Mick, their long-standing vocalist tell the story and much more in his own words!

So here's to The Ovaltinees and the many skinheads they inspired down the years...

1. can you tell us a little about the early days of The Ovaltinees?

I hope the readers understand my recollections are a bit vague as I never expected to write a history of the band. Many of the people who support the W.P. scene today may be unaware of what the period 1980- 84 was like so I'll try and explain.

Firstly, when we started there was no scene. In the beginning we booked gigs at local venues and because we had a lot of support, had no problems finding venues. We were friendly with the mainstream Oi band Splodgenessabounds and started to support them and bands such as Toy Dolls.

During this time, 1980- 82, we had interest from music papers such as Melody Maker, NME and Sounds, all of who offered us coverage if we would drop our political stance. All were told to get lost! We had offers of management from The Exploited's manager and a distribution offer from Secret Records. Also, at this time we were headlining at London venues such as the 100 Club, Skunks, Gossips, Red Lion etc.

This may seem unbelievable now, but what you must understand is that at that time there was no organised opposition to us and individuals were prepared to accommodate us. The pressure from the Reds and the State came in gradually. One by one venues began to refuse us gigs, PA companies turned down our business and music papers no longer tried to bribe us.

At one time (1983 I think) we were performing twice a week, we were making a record, producing our own T-Shirts etc... and then the pressure began to tell. Myself and the drummer were OK, but our guitarist and bass player decided it was no longer for them.

We tried new members, but we found no one with the dedication and commitment to make the band a success, so in 1984 we wound the band up, against our wishes.

2. As one of the original 'RAC' bands was it a hard decision to reform The Ovaltinees?

No, not at all: once friends had convinced me that people would still want to listen to us; that the project was feasible and we could move forward rather than dwell in the past. The decision itself was easy.

3. Did you envisage it as a CD project or did you plan being a 'real' band, doing gigs etc.?

The drive to reform the band was obviously the possibility of making the CD, but I only agreed to reform the band on the condition that we were a 'gigging' band. Unfortunately we did not play as many shows as I'd have liked.

4. Were you pleased with the Faith, Folk and Family CD?

On the whole I am pleased with the album. I would have preferred more new material but circumstances prevented this. Also it taught me a lot which will be put to good use in the future.

5. Your links with the British Movement are well known. What do you think of the attempts at 'unity' amongst Nationalist bands in England?

Excellent is the word I would use. Any move that gets us working together instead of at each others throats is a positive step forward. I will always support any initiative that unites us rather than one which forces us apart. Though we still have to work hard to heal the wounds.

6. What things have changed for the better in the 'skinhead music scene' and Nationalism per se since the 'early days' of The Ovaltinees - and what has changed for the worse?

One of the biggest differences I have noticed is the professionalism of the bands and the quality of the music they produce.

The other is the level of co-operation worldwide and even throughout nations. In the early eighties all our gigs and the people involved were local to our area.

On the down side because of the size of the scene (and peoples' readiness to to believe, not question and listen to rumour) it has allowed misfits and traitors to gain positions of influence and cause damage to the movement.

7. Were Ian Stuart and Skrewdriver a big influence to the band?

At the time no, because we were contemporaries, but since then I greatly admired Ian, Skrewdriver and all he achieved. For without Ian there probably would not have been any scene for my band to reform into.

8. Outside of the UK, which country do you think is the most promising as regards Nationalism and 'RAC' music?

My knowledge is by no means comprehensive, but in my experience the scene in Germany is very big and incredibly vibrant.

In the USA as well there are many fine bands, who have shown the way forward with their professional approach.

9. Given recent events with government ministers admitting they are 'behind closed doors' poofs... how would you consider tackling the homosexual issue?

This is a simple one! Quite simply a 9mm parabellum administered to the back of the head. Problem solved.

10. What plans do The Ovaltinees have for the future?

Unfortunately, I have tried to re-establish the band over two years without success. So I have come to the conclusion that The Ovaltinees has run its course, and the band is now finished.

11. Any last words for our readers?

As a last word, I am now in a band along with Brad and Lemmy (formerly of Squadron) and Titch. This new outfit will not be a revamped Ovaltinees or Squadron but a new band with a new sound and all new material. We started rehearsing in January 1999 and should be gigging by the time this interview is published. The name is 'Eye of Odin' and the majority of the material will be of a religious nature and musically 'heavy' with emphasis on performance and presentation. So watch this space!!!

AN INTERVIEW WITH FORZA NUOVA'S GENERAL SECRETARY: ROBERTO FIORE!

WE COULD hardly produce an 'Italian special' FC without interviewing Roberto Fiore, the General Secretary of Forza Nuova. Many English readers will have read many lurid stories about Mr. Fiore in the 'English' gutter press down the years. Here we give him the opportunity to explain the truth about the past, and to let us hear about his personal experiences, his thoughts on Italian Nationalism, and the importance of Forza Nuova today.

1. You are best known in England for the Bologna bombing media scare stories, so can you begin by putting the story straight about that whole affair - including the growth of the TP before 1980?

On August 2nd 1980, a bomb exploded in Bologna killing more than 80 people, most of them tourists. On the same afternoon, the Italian Home Secretary, Francesco Cossiga, (a politician known for his very close links with Freemasonry) declared — with no evidence at all on his desk — that the bomb had been planted by "fascists".

A witch-hunt ensued and a few hundred people were arrested in the following weeks. No evidence was unearthed which linked these detainees to the bomb, so political charges were brought against them so as to keep them in jail.

A few months afterwards, a bomb of the same type as used at Bologna was found on the Taranto-Milan express. I was accused, together with another two comrades, of having planted the bomb on this train. Subsequently, a police chief broke down under interrogation (he was being questioned because certain magistrates found the affair highly suspicious) and grassed two chiefs of SISMI, the military security service, saying that they had placed the bomb in order to lay the blame on us. The two SISMI chiefs — both Freemasons — Licio Gelli, the head of the powerful masonic lodge, P2, and a number of other people were convicted and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for perverting the course of justice, carrying explosives etc. etc.

I was paid damages for the false accusations.

Since then, I have also been paid extensive damages by a string of newspapers, who have insisted perversely on drawing an alleged connection between the Bologna bomb and myself. The culprit for Bologna has never been found, but a P2 connection is evident. It is probable, though this is speculation, that one or more youngsters from a masonically-controlled 'nationalist' group were manipulated into participating in some way in this outrage. Moreover, a high ranking high ranking Jewish national working for the CIA, Michael Ledeen, was involved. He was quickly expelled from Italy by the government and, thereby, avoided trial. If this sounds a little paranoid, do remember that Israel has done everything to convince America that she is the only reliable 'democracy' in the region — with all the financial, political and military clout that brings in.

2. We understand prior to Bologna, the TP had been approached by Freemasons - but you refused to toe the line. Given the role of the security services in the bombing, do you think the Freemasons were behind the whole affair? Furthermore, have you noticed this same influence in other 'happenings' in Italy or other countries?

Terza Posizione had become quite strong in the year before the massacre, and because the leadership was not controlled by the State or by Freemasonry, it became a target for destruction by anti-national forces. The Bologna bomb was the best excuse to put people as young as 18 behind bars for years. In 1985, after many militants had been kept in jail for more than 5 years, the Courts acquitted most of them, convicting very few (including me) for political offences.

3. Can you tell us about some of the nationalist Martyrs from this period - and the Comrades who spent years in jail?

Many comrades lost their lives, fighting both the Red Front and Reaction. Between 1970 and 1980 around 15 people were killed by the communists or the police, and their names are recalled every year by comrades at a ceremony of remembrance. If nationalists had not opposed the Reds or the Masonic police in those years, Nationalism would have disappeared and Italy would be in a worse situation than it is today.

4. How did Italian Nationalism recover after 1980?

Fascism had done too much good to Italy to disappear just like that. Under Mussolini, Italy embarked on a Social Revolution that made Italy the envy of the world. Italy was modernized, becoming an industrial power without diminishing its rural character. The working class was transformed into a class of owners, rather than being kept in a proletarian state.

It is impossible to hide all this; the older generations remember it and the young people have a lot of sympathy for it. Therefore, Nationalism recreates itself and no repression or betrayal can destroy it.

5. On your arrival in England did you ever think you would clear your name?

To be honest with you I could not care less and, without sounding rhetorical, I was only interested in following the path of Truth and Honour, knowing that if I was persecuted unjustly, I would be closer to my Lord, Jesus Christ.

6. The media onslaught against you has been quite intense and some newspapers still 'hint' at the Bologna smear. Can you tell us about the court cases in Italy where these newspapers have been successfully sued, and why you think papers continue with the unsubtle 'hints'?

I know that the smears will continue. This is because the power of evil will never leave you in peace whilst you fight it, but as I said before financial and personal benefit have come to me thanks to the accusations.

I have recently been able to sue British newspapers in Italy (as they are distributed and sold over there too) and I have had the satisfaction of seeing The Daily Mirror paying a good sum of money for a lie printed 10 years ago. They have been the first to pay up through the new legal paths that we have blazed, but they won't be the last!

7. Can you tell us a little about the Italian Nationalist cause in the 80s/90s, with Movimento Politico and Fiamma Tricolore?

FORZA NUOVA

As I explained earlier the nationalist movement never fully disappeared from Italy. At the end of the Eighties Movimento Politico managed to draw the public's attention to the problems raised by immigration and by revisionism, thereby continuing some of the main themes of Terza Posizione.

After the Fiuggi betrayal, when the MSI, under the leadership of the opportunist liberal, Gianfranco Fini, changed its name to Alleanza Nazionale and recanted its past, Fiamma Tricolore was born. This was because many people in the MSI were not prepared to go along with the Fini sell-out. This was the time in which, even though we were still exiled abroad, we started to get involved with this party and recruit people.

In a few months we had gathered a large base of young people and this worried the leadership of Pino Rauti, a longstanding 'fascist' of dubious integrity. He contacted a number of left wing magistrates, close to the Communist-dominated government, passed on the names of 'suspects' to them, and this resulted in a new enquiry.

The timing of this is interesting. At the end of April 1998, having finished with the old "Bologna" accusations, I received my passport back; 20 days later, I was served a new warrant of arrest for racial discrimination and, therefore, I was prevented from returning to Italy. In March 1999 the highest court in Italy declared the request for my arrest illegal and I was free to go back to Italy.

8. Forza Nuova has become well known over the last year or two. Can you tell us about its birth and growth? How important has Counter Power and Community politics been to the growth of Forza Nuova?

After the leaders of Fiamma behaved in such a treacherous way, we decided to create a new political force. On the 29th of September, in honour of Saint Michael the Archangel, the Movement was born.

Since then we have opened nearly 40 local offices, set up a number of Guilds, attracted the best of the nationalist youth to our ranks, and gathered numerous lawyers, professors, councillors and people of influence around us. This is because we have set out a clear, straightforward programme, which is militantly pro-family, pro-Guilds and strongly anti-abortion, anti-masonic and anti-banks. This what the people want and this what we will give to them.

The strength of the Movement is in having pursued traditional political activities and at the same time engineered new projects like Comprà Italiano (a farmers co-operative that seeks to get Italians to buy Italian), the Summer Colonies (where we have sent the sons and daughters of the unemployed in the cities to the seaside for a week of activities and adventure) and in the laying of the first bricks of a new and revived Guild System. Such things are not politics in the 'normal' sense of the word, but they are integral to a world view that has Counter Power at its centre.

We stood for the first time in local elections recently, and were pleased to get 4 councillors elected in one area. In other areas, we polled anywhere between 8% and 14%. In Padua, and other important areas, we achieved around 15%. All in all, a very encouraging first foray into the field, but we must not be counted amongst those who think that elections are the way forward. They are only means of testing support created by real political action, not a way of creating such support. It is a vital distinction.

9. During your exile in England did you ever dream you might be able to return to Italy? What was it like when you finally set foot on Italian soil?

Yes, I actually dreamt hundreds of times of returning to Italy and giving my mother the satisfaction of seeing me back home in her lifetime. God, in His wisdom, has given me this satisfaction after 19 years. The length of the time has only increased my joy in achieving this.

10. As the General Secretary of Forza Nuova, where do you see the Movement heading over the next few years?

If Forza Nuova can maintain its unique identity, blaze new paths in strategy and tactics, and continue with its programme for National Reconstruction without too much repression from the State, the Movement will grow into the only viable opposition in the country. The Italian people will endorse our struggle the moment that they see we are different and that these differences are about substance not image.

11. What do you think your years of exile taught you?

Never to be downhearted and never to give in. If you are innocent, you have no right to throw in the towel against a System that is guilty to its rotten core.

12. Having lived in England for so long, would you say you have an affinity for the English people and the English Nationalist cause? Do you now drink pints of beer and eat fish and chips?

That is a leading question! Of course, you could only expect me to say that I think that Italian is best! What would any proud Englishman say in my place? Seriously, I have learned a great deal from my time in England. Good things and bad things, and these things have taught me that Nationalisms are different, just as nationalities are different. There are things which are common and things which are distinct, and it was the genius of Christianity that allowed these common and distinct things not merely to be preserved, but to be the basis of a unity that was Europe-wide. What we Italian and English nationalists have achieved together over the years is a clear example that political and social operations for reconstructing Europe can be done together and achieve incredible results.

13. If you could leave just one message for future generations — what would it be?

The key to Victory is the passing on of the Ideal to future generations — as Codreanu did with us, unknowingly. When this has been done, Victory becomes possible, becomes something that is within reach. Why? Because the Ideal is the motivator, the Vision. It determines in due course the tactics and strategy, the sacrifices and struggles, the battles won and the battles lost. Without the maintenance of this Ideal across generations, our Cause is inevitably lost, because our Cause always must draw upon History.

A second essential is that we must never allow people to be our leaders who have deviated from that Ideal. There is no reason whatever — political, financial, strategic — which could justify putting the Movement into the hands of the unworthy and the compromised.

Finally, our militants have to remember that our struggle is merely the projection of the Road to Calvary trodden by Christ, and that at the end of that Road is to be found Resurrection.

STRONG & WORTHY

FORZA NUOVA: The Third Position is alive and well in Italy!

ITALY HAS always been a battleground for Nationalism. From Mussolini's March on Rome (1922), to the days of the Italian Social Republic (1943-45). From the days of the Third Position (late 1970s) to those of Movimento Politico (mid 1980s) — both NR organisations were hounded by the State.

But it is only the last few years that have seen the Italian Third Positionist movement mature into a well-established, nationwide structure that has brought the young and old; the rural and urban; the professional and worker together.

Forza Nuova - New Force - is the name of this movement. As subscribers to FC will know from the free full colour Forza Nuova brochure sent out free with this issue of FC, Forza Nuova have surpassed themselves with their various initiatives, like:

- ✦ Compra Italiano: Which distributes food from Nationalist farmers to the public, giving the farmers a decent price and side-stepping the internationalist supermarkets.
- ✦ The Childrens' Colonies: Which allow working class children to take holidays where they learn traditional values, Italian history, enjoy sports and recreation.
- ✦ Italica: FN's own Sports and Adventure section.
- ✦ Their own education programme for militants - including "universities" held on history, socio-economics and much more.
- ✦ Youth and student sections which campaign in universities; against drugs and much more...

Forza Nuova is now organised right across Italy with regional HQs, mass rallies taking place regularly, a street paper with a circulation of 20,000. As a result of this Forza Nuova recently had four regional councillors elected — not bad for the first local elections FN has ever contested!

In short, Forza Nuova is a movement on the March. Counter Power, Community initiatives and taking the message to the streets have seen Forza Nuova grow at an incredible rate.

In light of the above we asked a Comrade in Italy to write a report on Forza Nuova in one region for FC. This will help us appreciate Forza Nuova's progress from a local level:

FORZA NUOVA, the Third Position's sister movement in Italy, continues to make steady progress in spite of the obstacles being put in its path by the State. Now active in over three dozen cities, and recruiting from all parts of the political spectrum, it is fast becoming not only the authentic voice of Italian Nationalism, but the authentic and sole voice of the Italian people.

Franco Aschieri was a Nationalist murdered by the American invaders. The Forza Nuova 'Franco Aschieri Section' links today's militants with the heroes of yesterday.

Recently, it set up a new unit in the Province of Caserta which, for many a long year, has been a dead field for the nationalist movement. The inspiration behind the new unit is Domenico Moronese, an old hand, who spent 20 years with the old MSI before it was sold out by Gianfranco Fini some years ago at the now infamous congress at Fiuggi.

Fini's Alleanza Nazionale is now so liberal that it makes our Liberal Democrats look positively revolutionary! At the same time, it should be noted how positively the new AN is treated in the masonic and Jewish Press. Although Fini and company claim not to have sold out, the reality is altogether different; and whilst their 'vote' remains relatively stable, its membership structure is collapsing in proportion to its sell out, as it increases ever more.

Moronese left the AN after Fiuggi and went with Pino Rauti's, Fiamma Tricolore, which claimed it was going to maintain the fundamentals of Nationalism. In reality, it became a vessel for those interested in a dead end. Needless to say, after 2 years of this charade, Moronese and people like him all over the country left and began Forza Nuova. The continuing decline of Fiamma and of the National Bolshevik, Fronte Nazionale, is in marked contrast to the rising fortunes of Forza Nuova.

On May 22nd, the headquarters of the Province of Caserta, based in the town of Caserta, was officially opened and garnered a good deal of positive coverage in the Press, surprisingly. A plush office in a new block of apartments, it has a meeting room that can seat 30 - 40, a stock room and a secretary's office. It was described by Antonio Torre, the leader of the FN in the nearby Province of Naples, and one of the national leadership, as "the finest HQ of any unit in the country". Praise indeed from a man who maintains extremely high standards! Domenico Moronese is, like so many of the older generation of nationalists, committed to maintaining the Movement's link to the past. As such, on the day of inauguration, he sought to draw people's attention to the past, for it was in this province, between January and August 1944, that 13 young soldiers of Mussolini's Social Republic (RSI) were executed by American and British troops for treason! How such boys could be accused of treason, because they were fighting invaders, was never clearly explained.

FC posters in London on the 50th anniversary of the murder of Benito Mussolini (see FC issue 8). The bonds between English and Italian Comrades has always been strong. Boia Chi Molla!

One of those boys, Franco Aschieri, was condemned to death even though he had not reached his 18th birthday, something that was against the rules of international warfare. So the Allies merely kept him in prison until his birthday had passed by four days, and then he was taken out and shot.

The memory of that infamous day stills remains in the consciousness of many in the area, despite the fact that it all occurred more than 50 years ago. It was for that reason that the office at Caserta was opened as the "Franco Aschieri Section" of Forza Nuova. A Mass was organized in the chapel of the graveyard where four of the thirteen victims are still buried. This was, in itself, a victory, for many Communists in the area had deprived these boys even of a decent Christian burial for over 20 years after they were executed. The young priest who celebrated the Mass was generously aided by the old chaplain of the chapel, who was glad to see that the memory of these boys had not faded. Around 30 people attended.

Amongst those present was Dr. Alfonso Piccirillo, another old hand from the MSI who has kept the true faith, and who, with a dedicated band of supporters 20 years ago, had got these boys a Christian burial, had erected a monument in the field where they were executed in S. Angelo in Formis, and had printed a booklet recalling those unjust and murderous days. Now in his 80s, he was said by family to be moved by the whole affair after his lifetime struggle to render justice to these boys.

After the Mass, comrades went to the killing field to pay homage to the dead, and to sense the atmosphere that must have reigned in those far off days in this out of the way place. The wall behind the posts where they were shot still contains the bullet holes of the firing squad. The field is very small, and at the end of a dirt track going nowhere. Now planted with small fruit trees, it is perhaps hard to believe - but true nonetheless - that it was the blood of this generation which gave rise to the new generation fighting for Italy - but it is from the blood of martyrs that new warriors spring!

Roberto Fiore, Secretary General of Forza Nuova, was present to give a short, but stirring, oration. The assembled comrades, now numbering 50, listened in silence - and it was almost as if those terrible gunshots could be heard down the decades. Much to the surprise and pleasure of the FN contingent, they found a group of workers from an RSI Association present. They are building a beautiful monument and sculpture to the memory of these 13 boys which, when finished, will be featured photographically in a coming issue of Final Conflict.

The RSI folk raised the flag of the Social Republic, listened as the priest prayed for the dead, blessed the monument raised by Dr. Piccirillo and then spoke of the need to continue the struggle to liberate Italy from the evil forces dominating it. When Roberto Fiore read out the names of the 13 young heroes, all present saluted and proclaimed "Present!" Following this, the whole FN party, now grown to 65 or so, moved off to a nearby hotel where an original film of the executions, taken by the Americans, was shown. It showed young boys barely out of school facing death with a smile, proud that they were falling in the Cause of Italy. Their heroism was all the greater in that they had been offered their lives if they simply wrote that they had only been following orders. None of the 13 accepted the conditions. They proclaimed with one voice that they attacked the Allies because they were invading their country; given the same circumstances, they declared, they would do the same again.

One particularly touching moment in the executions took place when Giulio Sebastianelli, a mere 28 years old and the oldest of the fighters, began singing Schubert's "Ave Maria". As he intoned the final words ("now and at the hour of our death"), the guns blazed to seal it with a leaden "Amen". The American officer of the day recounted that everyone had been moved by this display of Heroism, and that it had given him no pleasure at all to kill such wonderful young men.

Forza Nuova militants distribute propaganda on the streets.

A social took place after the film, and which allowed comrades from Naples, Cassino, Cave and Lazio to socialize. It also allowed them to talk at length with Massimo Morsello, the Vice Secretary General of Forza Nuova, a well known nationalist singer, and someone who had been in exile in England for almost 20 years.

The youngsters from Cave, the first section of the FN's Italica youth adventure group, clearly enjoyed the day out, and it was especially moving to see them before the tombs of the dead. The eldest of these youngsters was only 8 or 9 years younger than most of those executed.

And so one generation picks up the standard and the struggle continues...

A STUDY IN INTOLLERANCE: THE ZIONIST TREATMENT OF CAPTAIN ERICH PRIEBKE

WHILST THE MURDERERS of Italian Nationalist fighters like Franco Aschieri go unpunished, the Zionist foe screams for justice when it comes to Captain Erich Priebke. In a world where we have constant reminders — and a multi-billion pound industry — of the fictitious "6 million", but where over 100 million (gentile) victims of Red Terror don't count at all, this is little wonder.

However, if we are stand up against the enemy's intimidation and injustice, it is vital that we know the background and facts of these cases. So we asked our old friend 'The Black Knight' to tell FC readers a little about Captain Erich Priebke and the injustice of his case.

THE REVENGE against the last prisoner of WW2 in Italy, which started 50 years after the end of the war, is now over after four and a half years of persecution.

LIFE SENTENCE

Captain Erich Priebke has been given a life sentence as a war criminal, whereas other people who also obeyed the orders of a terrible war did not get the same verdict.

We should remember those who have bombed Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Dresden. The Katyn murderers and those who buried living men and women in the Italian "foibe". Since then, retaliations did not come to an end and the 1 to 10 people ratio (for dealing with partisan attacks, which was one of the most important points for condemning Priebke) widely increased.

'ALLIED' RETALIATION

In 1945 the retaliation made by the USA (e.g. March 30th, at Paderborn, Germany) had a 1 to 110 ratio. The Russians carried out a 1 to 120 people retaliation on February 7th, 1945 at Soldin, Germany.

Nowadays, U.S. "smart" bombs kill not only soldiers and men, like at the Ardeatine graves in Italy, but also women and kids. In fact 30,000 kids have been killed in the Gulf War and other thousands have died in the retaliation at Tripoli (Lybia), April 1986 and more recently in Afghanistan, Sudan and Bosnia.

Even worse are the retaliations which have been carried out by Israel in the Palestinian refugee camps. Air pilots who have carried out war orders (e.g. Paul Tibbets, who bombed Hiroshima) are treated as war heroes and the men who gave the orders are now sitting at the top tables.

"LEGAL" ACTIONS

Some countries, who have the right to veto at the UN, very often agree with such actions; many crimes become "legal" actions; and many Heads of State receive all the honours, even if they are evil murderers.

We should remember Mr. Li Peng, the murderer of Tienamen square in China 1989 and Hugo Banzer, the Bolivian President who committed a lot of atrocities between 1971 and 1978 and who is now trying to repent for what he has done. We should remember the former terrorist and then Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir who led the "Stern Gang" after WW2 and carried out the mass murder of men, women and children at the Palestinian refugee camp of Deir Yasin on April 4th, 1948 as well as the massacre at the King David Hotel of Jerusalem.

WACO

Again we should remember Mr Boris Yeltsin responsible for the Chechnya massacre, or the Turkish officials responsible for the massacre of the Kurdish people. And what about the U.S. Presidents who napalmed Vietnam and killed children at Waco, Texas?

So why on earth such a profound interest in someone who, in the grand scheme of things, is rather meaningless: Captain Erich Priebke?

Because, behind his persecution, there is the same strategy carried out by the Zionist lobby who want to stop the peace process in the Middle East. Against the strong desire for peace of the majority, the same strategy of hatred, which brought about the murder of the Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, still exists.

ANCIENT GHOSTS

There is a clear intention to profit from the tragic events of WW2, to continue to bring to life the ancient ghosts of the past.

Therefore Priebke's trial has become 'a big show' to keep alive the ghost of terrorism and of racial hate. Erich Priebke is not important in the role of the Ardeatine graves massacre, as others of his Comrades have testified — being set free for the same action in 1948.

For example, Mr. Kappler who was set free because the judges recognised he had only carried out military orders. He was condemned only for having ordered 5 extra people to be shot.

NEVER ENDING HATE

Erich Priebke has been condemned as a perpetual symbol of a never ending hate. This is the legal atrocity. This is the spirit of the International Court of those who won WW2.

At Nuremberg, Penal Law was used in a backwards way and those who won WW2 have created a kind of puppet show where they were the offended people and the judges at one and the same time. So Justice has been replaced by the desires of the most powerful instead of being a means to set limits to human behaviour.

THE NEW CRIME

Nowadays, for political reasons, a crime exists that was not a crime back in 1948. People condemn people not for what they might have done but for the way they think.

This is the real violence, which wants to press and squeeze the human conscience within the borders of a civil reality. The goal is to kill the freedom of thought and action which represents the inner characteristics of all human beings.

For all the above reasons it is a big honour for us to have sustained and to keep on sustaining the last persecuted man of a lost war: Captain Erich Priebke.

Captain Erich Priebke. The victim of a war still being fought by a vociferous Zionist minority. He is in jail, even though Comrades were found innocent of the crime back in 1948.

THE LONDON BOMBS - WHO GAINS?

BOMBS ON the streets of London. What callous terrorist could be to blame?

Those who plant bombs, whatever the reason, guarantee that innocent people can get hurt or killed. That is why we oppose terrorism. That is why people were sickened by all the IRA bombs over the years. The mangled limbs and ruined lives cannot be justified by recourse to ideology.

While the bombs were being planted various police agencies were on full stand-by and it seems that after the third bomb, armed police were about to stage a huge number of raids against "extreme right wing" activists and organisers.

Far-fetched? Remember, armed police once swooped, KGB style in their black outfits, on the home of the vocalist of a skinhead band in Wales, in order to stop an open air festival! So do you really think the police wouldn't think twice about doing something similar with the perfect excuse of impending "Nazi" bombs?

Then they arrested David Copeland and, momentarily, the heat is off...

The alleged bomber, David Copeland, has been linked to the National Socialist Movement and the British National Party...

The NSM - led by Satanist Tony Williams, whose chief ideologue, Dave Myatt, is also a Satanist* - voluntarily disbanded not long after Copeland was arrested. It seems they were expecting the worst and tried to shut the door after the horse had bolted.

The police raided a dozen or so NSM addresses. We believe this happened prior to the disbanding of the organisation.

Meanwhile a photograph of Copeland standing in the shadow of the then BNP leader, John Tyndall, appeared on the front page of the Daily Mirror. While we have very deep disagreements with the BNP over Repatriation, Zionism and Homosexuality (and more!) — we are in favour of the first against the latter two — this photograph proves very little.

The BNP operate an open door membership policy - even at their AGMs, non-members and those with multi-memberships sit side-by-side - that's how people like Searchlight co-editor and Yorkshire Anti-Fascist Action pundit, Nick Lowles, managed to get into a recent BNP AGM.

For example, a TP member in one area was asked by BNP supporters to travel with them to the AGM to "make up the numbers".

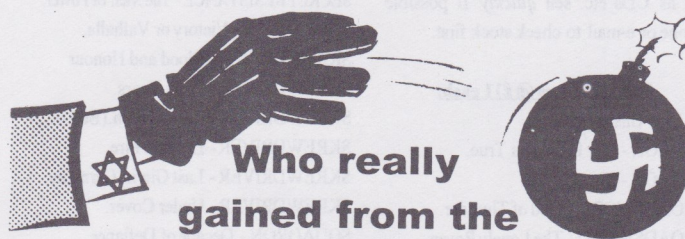

So a photo of Copeland by JT in the street before/after a meeting means little.

Copeland, whose mum works for a

Jewish hospital, is clearly a loose cannon and the prospect of a police swoop on the entire activist base of the "far right" shows just who this sort of thing helps.

The fact that 'the System' was gearing up to this end was mirrored in the pages of their newspapers. From The Guardian to The Daily Mail, all carried spreads on 'nationalist' groups, from C18 to the BNP, from the British Movement to the Third Position. All were smeared with terrorism, violence and the like.

On the Continent — in places like Italy and France — "neo-nazi" and "anti-semitic" atrocities have been carried out by the State to justify Orwellian tactics against Nationalist groups. The Bologna bombing and the State repression against the Italian Third Position in 1980 is a prime example.

• A sticker distributed by TP activists after the London bombings.

The Masonic Lodge P2 had a hand in the terrorist outrage and the policemen responsible are now in jail. But this didn't stop the State using it as an excuse to jail and murder hundreds of militants, as well as drive yet more into exile.

That many enemy voices still hint at Nationalist involvement in Bologna, when they know otherwise and have lost court cases to prove it, shows how keen the enemy is to milk State atrocities like this.

Steve Sargent, the editor of The White Dragon, which used to be a Combat 18 publication, but following internal violence resulting in the murder of C18 activist, Chris Castle, became an NSM publication, has boasted (in a letter to well known 'Federal' stooge Harold Covington) that he is the only "far right" person not to condemn Copeland. Is that something to boast about?

As with others surrounding the NSM clique, whether Copeland was acting on behalf of the State or Freemasonry, or is the unthinking tool of their opportunism - we may never know...

One thing is clear. Terror is wrong on numerous counts.

As we said at the start of this short piece, it can hurt the innocent.

It associates Nationalism with unthinking and indiscriminate violence.

It justifies harsh police measures against Nationalism.

We've said this many times before... THE ENDS NEVER JUSTIFY THE MEANS! We're not in the business of mouthing such things in the aftermath of 'uncomfortable' events as some sort of damage limitation exercise. This has always been our position. It will always be our position.

That is why we oppose the party politics of the BNP with their 'about turns' on fox hunting, repatriation and homosexuals.

But, even more importantly, that is why we are utterly opposed to those groups who think terrorist acts, however romanticised, can deliver 'freedom'.

Just as those who come to power via the Party System become a part of that corrupt system and not an alternative — so the terrorists become another Masonic State, another set of rulers who care nothing for the people they lord it over.

"The ends justifies the means" may seem reasonable, at first sight, but nothing could be further from the truth.

Our stance, on the other hand, means staying true to our ideals. It means never selling out. From fidelity to your family and Comrades, to the utter rejection of drugs, degeneracy and immorality.

It's the ideal of the Political Soldier. It is simply saying: "we practice what we preach" — instead of the party system mentality which tells our people: "do as we say, not as we do".

It sounds easy and obvious, but to those who remember at least one NF member in the early 80s being arrested on an anti-drugs march with cannabis in his pocket, it is a lesson we cannot afford to ignore.

That's why we cannot believe our eyes when the NF lets a known homosexual, Peter Marriner, hold a committee position in the Midlands, or when the BNP works with the homosexual Martin Webster and reprints his material in 'British Nationalist'.

The time for Party politics - as witnessed at the European Union election debacle - is over. The time for National Revolution is now. Terrorism never was, and never will be, on the agenda.

Copeland merely reinforces this message.

To those who think he's a "hero", those who like to use AK47 logos or justify mutilated bodies, we say: "Grow up or seek medical advice!"

Whether you realise it or not, you are doing the work of the State. This movement does not want you, it does not need you!

TWO NEW HISTORICAL BOOKS FROM FC

THE APOTHEOSIS OF THE JEW

by A.K. Chesterton

VOLUME 2 IN THE FINAL CONFLICT BLACK BOOK SERIES.

In this booklet, radical BUF lieutenant, founder of Candour newsletter (1953), co-founder and first Chairman of the NF (1967), A.K. Chesterton, looks at the role of organised Jewry. Today this individual would, for the most part, be called a "Zionist".

From humble beginnings as an immigrant and obvious alien, this individual soon finds himself moving up the social ladder and eventually runs a newspaper, a film studio or the like.

We won't spoil the booklet for you, but suffice to say that AKC manages to hit the nail on the head. In fact, that this booklet is even more relevant today with most senior posts in the U.S. Govt. held by, and most newspapers and film studios owned by unashamed Zionists.

This booklet shows the difference between AKC and the Rothermere "Kosher Fascists" in the BUF and will be of interest to students of Nationalism, the 'Jewish question' and/or the works of AK Chesterton.

THE MASS MADNESS OF SEPTEMBER 1938

And its Jewish Cause

by Arnold Leese

VOLUME 3 IN THE FINAL CONFLICT BLACK BOOK SERIES.

Arnold Leese was never one to hide uncomfortable truths, and in this book he makes it quite clear who is responsible for dragging England to the brink of war over a 'problem' hundreds of miles away, over a country that few Englishmen had heard of!

Czechoslovakia and Germany in 1938 are remarkably similar to Kuwait and Iraq in 1990 and Kosovo and Serbia in 1999. Of course the details vary, but the hidden forces in the media, in Westminster and in the "world community" (the phrase beloved by U.S. and UK Zionists!) have operated in much the same way each time.

If we are to be prepared for the next time chinless Freemasons try and send our sons and brothers off to war on their behalf, then we must learn the lessons of yesterday.

This book is an excellent starting point!

CONCERTS

STIGGER AND DARIO BRESSAN IN CENTRAL LONDON

On Saturday, 8th May the Third Position pulled off a feat which our enemies on the left and right never dreamed possible! It just shows what Revolutionary Nationalism's capable of with the TP's hard work, courage and discreet planning.

Taking the bus to the venue, I was struck by how alien Central London has become. Groups of so-called minorities act as if they own the place.

After a short wait my TP comrades turned up following a successful day of activities and paper sales.

We all headed off to the venue which was just a short five minutes stroll from the station. Comrades were there to greet us at the door and direct us down the stairs to the private function room.

Once we got down stairs I had a good look around, there was a fair number of men and women already at the bar so after greeting each other we took our seats and waited for the entertainment to start. The downstairs area was a fair sized place with comfortable room for around 100 people with a lot of tables spread out and enough seats to go round.

In no time at all the venue had quickly filled out and I haven't seen such a friendly, good natured crowd for years. I spent the time before the singers came on stage to socialize with old mates and enjoy drinking to their health and toasting the future.

First singer up was Dario Bressan from Italy and even though he sang in a language which I couldn't understand the passion and the love for his nation and our Europe shone through any linguistic barriers.

Stigger, who had been in the audience, went up on stage to do a duo with Dario, and for the finale the singer of Londinium SPQR shared vocals to bring a superb set to a powerful end.

Back to the bar to have another beer and talk to more friends and before I knew it, it was time for Stigger, who started off with some friendly banter with the audience and then went straight into classic after classic. One song just melted into the next as we all sang along. Beautiful England, one of Warlord's best, was followed by Tomorrow Belongs To Me and the anti-Brothers War classic Green Fields of France. It was all superb - even with some Welsh bloke in the audience singing along very loudly in an out of tune manner!

If you've got the Stigger 'Ballads Evening in Denmark' CD you would know most of the songs. If you haven't had the pleasure of listening to Stigger I strongly advise you to buy the CD now from

Final Conflict. Before I knew it, the gig was over but not until I shouted myself hoarse for Night Trains, Skrewdriver's masterpiece, which Stigger obligingly used to finish his set with

As I've mentioned before, I've never been to a gig before where everyone was in such high spirits. Everyone there knew we had pulled off a major victory against the Zionist enemy by holding a gig in the very heart of Central London. The TP, who arranged it, can't be congratulated highly enough.

Bravo to everyone involved!

MAGNUS WAGGEG MEMORIAL GIG

The gig was held in a good-sized hall and there were plenty of stalls there. The first band on was playing for the first time called 'Rage & Fury'. They had a bit of trouble with the P.A. as happens at most gigs, but once they got it sorted out they showed that they have a lot of potential. They were well received.

Next up were 'Legion of St George'. As powerful as ever and they went through their usual songs and some from their new album.

Then Ken from 'Brutal Attack' jumped on stage and did a few songs with a made up band.

He had just swapped T-Shirts with a Russian Comrade who was staying over with TP Comrades (we're not sure if the Russian has changed his T-Shirt yet...) and how we chuckled when he pulled the 'Russia' T-Shirt to bits on stage!

There was a collection being made to help send the body of Magnus Waggeg (see page 4) back to his German Fatherland and the Brutal Attack team helped in this considerably. A good gesture and a lot of money raised by everyone for a good cause.

Next up were 'Archivum' from Hungary. These went through a set of very powerful songs that got everyone going mad. The dance area was packed throughout their set. These are a very good band and should be seen at all cost if you get the chance.

Last but not least the Welsh Dragons 'Celtic Warrior' were up. They did an excellent set of their old and new songs. Favourite ones being 'White Reich' and 'Rise to the Wings' from the new album 'Invaders'.

An excellent gig all round and well done everyone who gave money for our comrade Max.

A GOOD NIGHT OUT IN NOTTINGHAM

Saturday the 26th June and all the old geezers were gathered in Notts. to hear Warlord, Londinium SPQR and local punk band No Future. Warlord were superb as usual. Good to see the Italian lads from London back on the circuit - and the local punk outfit did well doing some old covers. All in all a most enjoyable evening...

LITERATURE

SATANISM AND ITS ALLIES - THE NATIONALIST MOVEMENT UNDER ATTACK - FC Red Book Series, Volume 1. ◆ There are very few books which you pick up and are difficult to put down. This is one of them.

The book is very well researched and begins with the likes of Aleister Crowley, the Satanist who called himself 'the Beast' and worked for British Military Intelligence, and carries on via all sorts of losers and weirdos to people in the Church of Satan who are actively involved in infiltrating Nationalist groups today.

It is impossible to go into the people and groups here - there are just too many to mention and the intrigues cover many countries and ideologies. Suffice to say a few names pop up time and time again.

If you think the idea of Satanist infiltration is a crazy conspiracy with no foundation in reality - read this book! It will make you think again! Very highly recommended. £3.50 from FC.

For an info pack on Nationalist animal welfare, write to: ANIMAL SUPPORT GROUP, BM 1326, London, WC1N 3XX, England. Send 50p for a badge and £1 for sample goodies - made payable to WLCA.

THE APOTHEOSIS OF THE JEW by A.K. Chesterton. ♦ FC Black Book Series, Volume 2. This little booklet is very interesting. AK Chesterton, of the radical Blackshirt tradition and founder of Candour newsletter, outlines how the Jew changes from his first appearance as an immigrant to controller of finance, entertainment etc. It is then he reaches the stage where his arrogance is his downfall. We won't spoil the booklet for you - suffice to say AKC's usual insight is just as relevant today and this historic text will be of interest to Nationalists and scholars alike. 50p from FC.

THE MASS MADNESS OF SEPTEMBER 1938 and its Jewish Cause by Arnold Leese. ♦ FC Black Book Series, Volume 3. With recent events in Iraq and Serbia this booklet is perhaps even more relevant today than when it was written. It shows how public opinion is turned in favour of crazy jingoist war - when no English interest is at stake. With today's mass media and spin doctors, one wonders what Arnold Leese would have made of things!

This historic text has been unavailable for some time. Again of interest to Nationalists and scholars alike. 60p from FC.

STALIN (AND THE SHAPING OF THE SOVIET UNION)

by Alex de Jonge. This book is a must read for all Nationalists! What becomes clear in this book is the Machiavellian nature of the Bolsheviks. Don't let the Reds (especially Trotskyists like the SWP) fool you that Stalin was a monster but Lenin and Trotsky were 'good guys'. The misery of collectivisation were as much the babies of the latter two as Stalin. And what miseries! The author informs of widespread famine, which included cannibalism. In the Ukraine there were three terrible famines. In the 1920s, the much reported one of 1933 when millions died, and one after WW2 when collectivism was reinforced on the fiercely patriotic Ukrainians. There were more uprisings against the Reds right across their 'USSR' than I care to remember - and small wonder when people starved and Red grain stores were full of confiscated foodstuffs, but under armed guard.

Lenin, Trotsky, Stalin and all the Reds saw the independent peasants as the enemies of the workers in their factories working for the State - hence their desire to trundle them off to factories or have them work for the State on collective farms.

The stripping of the people of all land, independence and property is equalled only by the enclosures, industrial revolution and rented-slum/factory shop atmosphere of Capitalism.

Indeed, there is little doubt that the Communists and Capitalists have equal disdain for the people, treating them as cogs in a machine, necessarily sacrificed for profits or for Marxian experimentation.

Much is made of Stalin's anti-semitism in the book (and by idiotic 'National Bolsheviks' around the world). What's clear is that the Bolsheviks were heavily Jewish and Stalin had Jews around him for many years, right until the end. That he had some killed, or put in camps merely shows he liked to keep everyone on their toes. He killed many Communists, so why not Jewish Communists too? There were enough of them! As with Stalin's "Patriotic War" (WW2) he was merely a statesman who knew how to terrorise people and play with their emotions, affections etc. His "anti-semitism" is overblown in the interests of modern Zionists.

MUSIC

STILL GOT THE POWER by No Fear. ♦ Who are these herberts I hear you ask? As indeed, did I. They are Paul Burnley and Nigel Brown, half of the 'old' No Remorse. Nigel has since gone on to work with Billy of Celtic Warrior on the excellent Broadsword CDs, as well as his own Wolfseye project (all available from FC).

So what are we to expect from this CD? A professional sound, and that is what you get. But anyone who is expecting a carbon-copy of old NR stuff better pack their bags for Brighton!

Though there are some similarities, as you'd expect, I think the crime-fighting duo have done their best to break into new areas. Holy Cow Batman!

The CD opens with Pied Piper, a powerful attack on the provocateurs who land young skinheads in jail and set Comrade against Comrade. It's followed by Flooding In a timely attack on immigration. Other gems include Mock Parades and Masquerades an attack on Nationalists who get stuck in a rut like marches or elections which do nothing to change the current 'status quo'. Plus there's a couple of cover versions like Skrewdriver's Our Pride is Our Loyalty and Rahowa's Victory Day - the latter being, for my money, the best song on the CD with superb use of backing female vocals. Or what about Patriotic Hero which pays tribute to the Rexist leader Leon Degrelle?

A couple of songs, like Masterplan and Shining Star use a kind of 'loudhailer' style of lyric for the verses. This might not go down well with some 'traditionalists', but it is catchy after a while.

In short, a good CD. They've lost some of the power of the old NR, but the Nationalist content is there for all to see and, hopefully, No Fear have more CDs waiting around the corner.

"Terrorism is a mighty political instrument, only a clod could fail to see that" - Trotsky

RIDES AGAIN by Centurion. ♦ This CD came in for some flak for including two Irish Republican songs, but if you look past that what you have is a musically excellent Racialist CD. As with Centurion's first CD (14 Words) the heavy thrash sits side by side with folk-acoustic. As well their own material there's also a superb Manowar cover (Thor) and a Bound for Glory cover (Onward to Victory). If you have 14 Words - you'll know what to expect. And the Republican controversy? As with Eric Owens and Ian Stuart covering Irish tunes, this is no form of apologetics for Marxist terrorism or a bloody Brothers War. Some songs are better than others, but everyone will have a preference. ☺☺☺☺

CINEMA

AMERICAN HISTORY X

Sadly a lot of people will see this film and miss a couple of important points.

The gist of the story is that a 'Nazi skinhead' gang leader is in jail after killing a couple of armed Blacks who were stealing from his car one night. A lot of the story is told in 'flashbacks' by his younger brother.

Local White youths worried by the increasing number of Blacks taking over the area, play a 'White Versus Black' match for control of the basket ball courts. The Whites win, but the Blacks end up with the courts.

Meanwhile the skinhead leader in prison joins up with other so-called 'Nazis' for safety, only to discover that they deal with non-Whites to buy drugs. As he is ideological he breaks with the group only to be raped by them in the showers.

The only support he gets is from a Black prisoner he works with and his very intelligent former school teacher, who is, of course, Black. As a result he changes his ideas totally, even agreeing to become a police informer!

The film ends with his brother being shot by a Black in some toilets. As he cradles his brother in his arms he cries "What have I done?". Those of us who remember the beginning of the film will reply: "Nothing!" as this isn't a political killing, but yet another anti-White racist murder. The film started with a Black gang harassing a White kid in the same toilets. He tells the kid to stand up for himself, which the Blacks don't like. We must, it seems, bend over backwards to be nice to Black hoodlums!

If the Racial roles were reversed and an older Black held his younger brother in his arms, he would cry "What have they done?"

The moral of the story, like so many others, is that Whites are always guilty and we must always give everything to immigrants. I hope, one day, to review a film entitled T'd Rather Die on My Feet!...

NEITHER LEFT NOR RIGHT

Dear Comrades,

There seems to be some confusion in this region, because of the profusion of 'Nationalist' groups. But the worst thing is that some people have started to talk about 'National Communism' and 'National Bolshevism'.

All I'm asking is what's happened to all our wars against the Reds and, most importantly, what are we to say to our dead Comrades?

Roman Greetings!

G.M., Genova, Italy.

Ed: This sudden outburst of 'National Bolshevism' is pathetic. It, and the people promoting it, are dealt with in the new booklet 'Satanism and its Allies - the Nationalist Movement Under Attack', available from FC for £3.50 plus postage.

'National Bolshevism' - left 'nationalism' is just as wrong as 'National Capitalism' - right 'nationalism'. Just as we've attacked those who talk of "harnessing 'the City' to the nation" (i.e. making Capitalism 'nationalist') so we attack those who promote collectivisation and State control of all property.

We are Third Positionists. When we say 'Neither Left Nor Right', we mean it! No compromise with the left or the right.

THE MEDICINAL PROPERTIES OF FC!

Dear FC,

Final Conflict 21 was excellent. It arrived this morning after a heavy night on the ale and my hangover instantly disappeared! Who needs aspirin when you've got FC?

LR, South London.

Ed: So there we have it! If it isn't the serious features, mildly amusing funnies, reviews and news: FC is at the cutting edge of drug-free 'alternative' medicine!

A RON-TYPE CONVERT

Dear FC,

Thankyou for saving my life! No, it's true in a sense. Until a short while ago, there I was kicking the heels of my goochies down Dead End Avenue, when I saw it! "No!" I hear you shout, but I really did.

A copy of 'Ranting Ron'. How was I to know it was a badly folded copy of FC and all I could see was Ron's page?

I hadn't been subjected to such wisdom since my dad said, "Don't touch that, it's hot", (it was - scars to prove).

Whilst pretending to wait for a bus, I avoided the attention of the bod reading it and managed to digest the 'Top Tips'.

I felt renewed, refreshed, revived. I didn't care that a crowd had assembled to laugh at me (I wasn't on a bus route).

I realised that my toggle buttons were in a sorry state, and that my repertoire of Nationalist songs was somewhat sorrowful. But thanks to you, all that has changed.

Now I've subscribed and found out that the rest of FC isn't too bad either. Well done; yes indeed well done!

Yours Convertedly,

T. Pouce, France.

P.S. What's a Zionist? And where do I get one?

Ed: Zionists (Extremis Edibilis Arabis-Bambino) are strange creatures. Very few actually exist compared to the strange powers they wield. We hope government racial quotas brought in to up the number of immigrants in public life and high profile occupations, will reduce the number of heavily over-represented Zionists!

You can buy one if you: 1. Become a government minister. 2. Get a lot of Swiss gold. 3. Offer a national lottery grant.

But be warned, they are not easily house trained and will often bite the hand that feeds!

SATANISM AND NATIONALISM

Dear FC,

thanks for sending me a copy of 'Satanism and its Allies' which I have just finished reading. I expected to see the booklet warning the reader to the dangers of the demonic influence of Death Metal etc., so it was refreshing to see it aimed at exposing the possible dangers of Satanism — the ideology, rather than the voodoo stuff!

These Occult/Zionist types seem to equate Fascism and Nationalism with oppression and enslavement, pushing out slogans like "those who can create" and "it's better to be used than useless" and having a total disdain for underachievers (working class??).

I think another reason why the rebels amongst their ranks are attracted to the "far right" is that society says this is a no-go area — therefore making acquaintance with the "far right" the ultimate act of rebellion to society.

Anyway, I think the booklet handled a difficult subject in an intelligent manner — it's hard to see the real motives behind these people and their organisations and the extent of their distortion on truth which often raises questions like "was the Nazi movement a product of Zionist Occultism?"

N, Leicester.

Ed: The response we've had to the booklet has been fantastic! We'd especially like to thank the contacts in America and Europe who have been so enthusiastic at distributing and advertising the booklet.

The support from contacts as diverse as American Christian Identity followers, French Catholics, Ulster Protestants, Russian Orthodox and Norwegian Odinists has been overwhelming.

Of course those who consider priests in the Church of Satan as "comrades" have hit back in a feeble way - as we expected - but the common consensus is that these people are scum that the Nationalist cause simply does not need or want.

Readers will be pleased to know that we are putting together an update to the booklet, which, at the moment, we envisage being circa 24 pages (i.e. a small booklet). We hope to have more news on this by next issue.

ICENI (I SEEN A) GREAT DEAL!

Dear Sir,

I have been extremely impressed with both the efficiency and promptness of your service...

Things have improved a great deal since the days I used to buy Nationalist records, circa 'White Noise' mag, when there used to be endless problems.

Boadicea is definitely the best supplier of Nationalist music I have ever used. Keep up the good work,

D.O., Manchester.

Ed: Praise indeed... and I understand the ugly gits at Boadicea didn't even bribe him!

FRED WEST & THE MACPHERSON REPORT

Dear FC,

A comrade sent this e-mail to me:

"Check this out.... I'm reading 'Fred and Rose' by Howard Sounes, a book about the mass murderer Fred West. He thought that race mixing was the way to breed better human beings and experimented on his daughters with the sperm from his prostitute wife's black clients. Unbelievable..."

We must wonder if Fred West was merely implementing the recommendations of the Macpherson Report. What a wonderful man! He clearly understood racial tolerance and understanding!

Yorkshire Nationalist.

Send in your letters to FC. Mark them for the letters page.

IN DARKEST SCOTLAND

PROSTITUTE Angie McDonald of Kilmarnock was murdered by Jarnail Singh. When he was sentenced to life at Glasgow Crown Court (in May), her local newspaper, The Irvine Herald, chose to hide the news away in a tiny column on page 26. Scottish TV totally ignored the case.

McDonald, who "entertained" hundreds of Punjabi men at her home, is yet another White victim of multi-racism.

Singh "may be deported" on his release.

Meanwhile at the other end of Scotland, evil paedophile Colin Grant had his sentence deferred and was allowed to move to the Nairn village where his attacks had taken place, as a neighbour to his victims!

Sheriff Raj Jandoo saw no problem in letting this pervert stay free - choosing only to put him on the Sex Offenders' Register!

How's that for "Scottish" justice?

ROADS: TAX AND DEBT

WITH THE Labour government, especially John "Two Jags" Prescott, wanting to start charging tolls for using roads I thought I'd give a quick answer to the transport gridlock facing Britain.

1. Taxes collected from cars and petrol should be spent on the roads and public transport. Nothing else!

2. All large-scale public transport should be owned by the government on behalf of the people and not run to make profits. Some small-scale transport systems could be co-operatives, provided some sort of fixed income were written into it, to prevent speculation and profiteering.

3. Public transport should be subsidised on a huge scale. If some of the money wasted on nuclear power and police sick pay was invested in public transport, the infrastructure would be much better and the prices would be far cheaper.

4. How to pay for all this? Stop borrowing from the banks and get the government to issue its own money! Ipso facto no debt repayment, and taxes could be actually spent, on the roads, NHS etc, instead of being paid back to the Bank of England!

So there you have it. Cheap and widely available public transport is the answer.

Hiking up fuel prices is not the answer - that hits rural people who often have no choice but to use their cars.

The people we want to get out of their cars are the commuters, and you do that by offering cheap and reliable buses and trains.

The answer is easy! But because it involves State/co-operative ownership of the bus and train network and the stopping of the Bank-usury rip off, it will never happen — unless we make it happen!

LIBYA & THE CIA

LIBYA AND Britain have started diplomatic relations again.

Libya has given up two men the West says may be guilty of the Lockerbie air crash.

Libya has apologised for the shooting of WPC Yvonne Fletcher in the 1980s.

Let's forget the role of the CIA in these events for a moment...

Britain has not apologised for letting American bombers take off from here and kill innocents - including Gaddafi's adopted daughter in an illegal terrorist act.

Britain has not apologised for giving £100,000 — of tax-payers money! — to Muslim terrorists and helping them try to bomb Gaddafi - and kill other innocents in the process.

Seems kind of one way traffic doesn't it?

RACIST TRANSPLANTS!

AS WITH everything else, the media painted a one-sided picture, when a Sheffield family said donated organs could only go to a White person. Here's a letter that appeared in the FC daily e-zine on 7/7/99:

"There are often appeals for more Asians to donate organs when they die in the Bradford papers as European ones are mainly incompatible with the recipients. This doesn't seem to have been mentioned by the media though."

- YORKSHIRE TP ACTIVIST

Our enemies would denounce the above as "racist TP propaganda", but the day after this letter appeared, the story broke of an Asian family who left organs with the proviso they only go to a Muslim.

WHOSE ASSETS?

SO THE Rothschild Collection at auction made over £56 Million.

Much was made of the fact that this property had been "looted" by the Nazis from the "Austrian" Rothschilds.

No mention was made of how the Rothschilds came by the artifacts in the first place - usury and banking which has ruined untold millions of lives.

Whatever one thinks of 'Nazi' Germany, full marks to them for confiscating the goods of the Rothschilds - after all, governments do it today with minor drugs dealers and the Rothschilds have ruined many more lives with their financial shenanigans and their financing of revolutions.

MEL B of the 'Spice Girls' has announced she'll do a song in tribute to Stephen Lawrence. We won't hold our breath waiting for a singer to do a song about Richard Everitt — or any of the many dozens of Whites murdered by Asians or Blacks over the last decade...

BACK CHAT WITH RANTING RON

CAPITALISM PAYS!

THE ANARCHIST band Chumbawumba have been attacked by fellow smellies for selling out. This led to Chumbawumba being on Top of the Pops, miming away to their 'hit' Tubthumper and being accepted by the BBC. How radical!

And where do the goons at Anti Fascist Action stand on this? They don't mind - as Chumbawumba gave them £500...

COLIN JORDAN IN COURT

COLIN JORDAN — the veteran nationalist writer — has, once again, been made a scapegoat of the System and its anti-racist witch-hunt.

Mr. Jordan is due up in court soon on trumped up charges of racial hatred — i.e. speaking the truth about Zionist power and the non-White invasion into the British Nations.

He will stand trial at Leeds or York Crown Court later this year. If you would like to attend, write into FC and we'll keep you informed.

MEGRET AND THE FREEMASONS

EVIDENCE is coming out about the role of Freemasonry behind Bruno Megret's 'split' with Le Pen and the Front National in France.

Megret's faction had links with:

- The super-rich Francois Pimault, a leading Chirac bankroller.
- Philippe Olivier of the Grand Orient Freemason Lodge.
- Felix Rohatyn the left-wing billionaire New York banker, Grand Orient member and Israeli fixer.

President Chirac is also a member of the Grand Orient Freemason Lodge. Coincidence?

It is alleged that Megret and co. were asked to give the Grand Orient sign to acknowledge their allegiance — they did when singing their National Anthem.

Certainly, if the system wanted to avoid a FN 20% vote, which was on the cards, they did it — with the sudden appearance of a right-wing anti-EU group taking 13%. Meanwhile, Le Pen got 5.71% (and 5 MEPs) and Megret got 3.29% (and no MEPs).

Now, with all FN money frozen by the courts and Megret's backers failing to deliver most of the money they promised, Megret is asking for £750,000 to bail him out of loans he took out to finance the split and election....
